THE CRAIG BODDINGTON SALMON FISHING TOURNAMENT July 30 – August 2, 2010

WITH OVER $ 100,000.00 IN PRIZES
Limited space available for this tournament

Craig Boddington is a world renowned author and television personality. Known as the "Dean of African Hunting" he has authored over 3500 articles on hunting the world. Craig has enjoyed fishing with us at Black Gold and wrote a story in the Safari Times September '09 issue. In that story, Craig talked about the "cross-over-sportsman" – hunters that fish and fishers that hunt. That gave us the idea for this tournament.

It's no secret that tournament host, Jim Rough of Black Gold Lodge is an avid hunter-fisher and has done both on more than a few continents. This tournament, is what we call "the derby with a difference". Almost all prizes are hunting Safaris with a few world class fishing destinations to be sure there is something for everyone. These prize Safaris are on three continents - North America, New Zealand and Africa. Read the pages that follow for full descriptions of these prizes...
